

Essex Primary School bring the Caribbean to London

Essex Primary School celebrated the life of Sam King, MBE, in *Carnival: Bringing the Caribbean to London.

On Friday, 21 October 2016, Newham Deputy Mayor, Lester Hudson, a former Essex pupil himself, was among the audience of invited guests, parents and children at the Year 6 performance.

As part of their Black History Month studies, pupils learned about the challenges Sam King faced as the first Black Mayor of Southwark and how his experiences led to the creation of the Notting Hill Carnival.

The pupils combined song, dance and drama, mixing the music from Africa, Europe and the Caribbean that characterises the Notting Hill Carnival. Supporting the performance were award-winning musicians: Cleveland Watkiss, the Evening Standard's Best Male Jazz Singer in Britain and 2010 Winner of the London Jazz Awards for Best Vocalist, and Eska Mtungwazi, 2015 Mercury Prize Nominee.

After the applause, Head Teacher, Rosie Cowan, invited Councillor Hudson to address the audience. He spoke of his fond memories of attending Essex Primary School, and hoped that his own success would inspire the children to aim high in life and make a positive change to the world around them – just like Sam King.

Rosie said: "It has been wonderful to celebrate such an inspiring figure as Sam King and to involve an inspiring figure from our own community, Deputy Mayor, Lester Hudson. Essex pupils have learned from these figures as well as each other and can see that they are playing an important part in promoting the values of diversity, community and teamwork."

Apart, from Councillor Hudson and other invited guests, newly qualified teacher, Rachael Simmons, found the performance inspirational, saying:

"One of the many highlights, from my first term at Essex Primary School, has been participating in the truly inspiring Music Project for Black History Month. As a class teacher, I believed I knew a lot about the children in my class already, however the project enabled me to get to know them on a whole new level: I discovered their hidden talents, learned alongside them and together we were able to put on a performance to be proud of. The invaluable experience was something the children and I were extremely grateful for, and we will be looking forward to many more creative, energising and fruitful experiences together at Essex Primary School in the future."

The pupils also explored the history of Carnival, an eighteenth-century

Christian tradition that, when it reached the islands of the Caribbean, was adopted by the African slaves, who added their own rhythms and traditions to the forms. This resulted in the dynamic mix of culture now recognised as Carnival.

A giant leap for Maryland

Four pupils from Maryland took a giant leap on behalf of their fellow pupils as they presented at the Principia Schools Conference to an audience including astronaut Tim Peake.

The pupils were selected by Principia as one of only 10 UK schools invited to present their work to other schools, scientists and space industry representatives at the Schools Conference in Portsmouth.

Maryland was the only Newham school selected to attend the conference. Representing the school and the Borough on Wednesday, 2 November 2016 were Nabil, Mathew, Ivayla and Seynab.

The Schools Conferences celebrate the work done by over a million school students throughout the UK, inspired by Tim's Principia mission. Students presented their work through talks and exhibitions to Tim and experts from the UK Space Agency and the European Space Agency (ESA).

At the conference, Tim Peake gave a half-hour talk about a day in the life of an astronaut working for 6 months on the International Space Station (ISS). After his talk, Maryland were the first school to present, which the children did proudly and with confidence.

The school used a grant from the alone website devised to showcase pupil writing. Launched in January 2016, pupils wrote their own books in several chapters, on the premise of being the first child chosen to go on a space mission.

The highlight of the Conference for the pupils was the opportunity to meet Tim Peake, the first British astronaut to work on the ISS, and to ask him questions.

Tim Peake said: "Encouraging students to engage with my Principia mission was always something that I had hoped to do and I am thrilled at the range of different things young people have done to follow my mission. I'm really looking forward to hearing about all these tremendous projects direct from the students themselves."

Mrs Cooper, Deputy Headteacher of Maryland, said: "These children will never forget the day they shook hands with an astronaut. No money can buy such a memorable experience."

Inside the Houses of Parliament

Pupils from Calverton Primary School visited the Houses of Parliament with Head teacher, Caroline Crompton, to meet with MPs for lunch and a forum concerning school dinners.

The Calverton representatives were the sole children in attendance.

They were interviewed about their school dinner experience and discussed the future of free school meals.

One pupil reported:

"On Wednesday, 2 November 2016, four pupils from School Council went over to the House of Commons to talk about the change of school meals.

Kata, Darnell, Rosheen and Samuel went to the House of Commons and had a great time and learnt some new things. We took lots of pictures with the MPs and even met some famous ones as well. We met some Lords and some researchers and journalists.

We even had an exclusive tour of the Houses of Parliament. The food was amazing and was delicious (and also the dessert) we had an amazing time at the House of Commons. It was spectacular."

Digital age learning and staff effectiveness

Services for schools, owned by schools

Come and join us in NPW with a Google Certified Innovator and Trainer, Mark Allen, and Dan Foster of WizKids, technical delivery partner to NPW, to find out more about how Google boost teaching and learning.

Your website appears on Google, your pupils use it, your staff use it, you probably use it yourself. Google is already an integral part of your school. NPW will support your Google journey from deployment through to helping you with device management.

Chris Jarvis, Assistant Head Teacher at Maryland Primary School, said: "I'd like to once again extend our thanks to NPW for coming and meeting with us. We now feel much more secure with the partnership as you have addressed many of our concerns. We are looking forward to working with you as our Google adventure continues."

This session is for head teachers.

Date and Time: Thursday, 17 November 2016 from 14:00 to 17:00

Venue: Francis House

Cost: Free

What Google can do for your school

Whether improving collaborative working at your school or making ICT learning relevant for your pupils, using a platform that they are familiar with already will be an ideal first step.

On Wednesday, 30 November 2016, join NPW and Google Certified Innovator and Trainer, Mark Allen, for a free workshop day to find out about what Google can do for your school.

From deploying Google for your school and helping you with device management, NPW will support your Google journey.

This session is for school ICT coordinators and middle leaders.

Date and Time: This is an all day event on Wednesday, 30 November 2016

Cost: Free

To book:

Mark helps schools and the people in them work smarter, transform teaching and learning, and save money into the bargain, and he does this by showing them how to embed the cloud invisibly into their school. Over the last ten years, he has worked with hundreds of schools, plus the clusters, trusts, alliances, federations and other groups which are the features of the new educational landscape, showing them how they can combine the three essential strands of Technology, Pedagogy and Engagement to transform themselves into nimble, adaptable learning organisations where technology is just a tool and only one element of a coherent strategy.

Mark is one of a handful of Google-Certified Innovators and Trainers in the UK, and in this workshop he will be showing you how you can leverage Google Apps for Education so that you, your colleagues and your students can acquire ninja skills to help you become more productive and more creative.

School Business Managers' Network Meeting

This term the Network Meeting will be held on the morning of Thursday, 17 November 2016.

As usual, it will be the opportunity for School Business Managers to meet this term and discuss what is happening in schools in Newham and beyond.

Places for this Meeting will be free for those who have bought the School Business Managers' Network SLA from NPW. Business Managers from other schools are welcome to attend but there will be a charge for attendance on the morning.

Contact: jonathan.parr@npw.uk.com to reserve your place and to book parking or make any other necessary arrangements.

EVOLVE

EVN Network meetings

Two EVN Network meetings have been arranged for the autumn term 2016, on Wednesday, 16 and 30 November 2016, between 09:30 and 11:30.

These meetings will cover the introduction of EVOLVE, give an overview of the system and the opportunity to ask questions. As usual, this will be an informative meeting, with practical tasks to refresh your knowledge of visits and an update of guidance changes and practice. As always, a session not to be missed.

You are only required to attend one session and both will be held at Francis House, 760 Barking Road, Plaistow, London E13 9PJ. The session is free to Newham LA Schools and those schools/settings which have purchased the NPW Education Visits Support Service. Please note that failure to attend the session booked or cancellation without sufficient notice will incur a £50.00 charge.

Room space is limited, so to reserve a place please email cherylann.cadogan@npw.uk.com who will ensure you are added to the register. Please ensure that you state clearly which session you wish to attend.

An agenda will follow shortly before the meeting. In the interim if you have any questions regarding the Network or educational visits generally then please do not hesitate to contact alan.merry@npw.uk.com.

DON'T FORGET

School Emergency Action Cards are now available from NPW, which detail actions that need to be taken in Emergency situations away from the school and provide space to keep details of all necessary information in an easy to use, foldable, wallet-sized pamphlet.

The cards are 70p each (+ postage) though for batches of 100 or more there will be no charge for postage and other quantities can be arranged.

Contact: alan.merry@npw.uk.com to order a supply for your school or for a free sample.

To enable you to get the full benefit of the EVOLVE program, the free trial period has been extended to the end of 2016.

To register to use EVOLVE, your educational visit coordinator should contact Alan Merry, Geetha Unnithan or Jonathan Parr, who will send you your login details and starter guide and help with any queries.

NPW has secured a licence to operate EVOLVE for 2 years. Following the initial piloting phase, should schools wish to continue using EVOLVE, the annual charge from 2017 per annum, for a fixed 2 year period, is as follows:

Secondary schools - £525.00 (+vat)
 Primary and special schools - £325.00 (+vat)
 Nursery Schools - £225.00 (+vat)

England China Exchange 2016/17

A fantastic opportunity to see the lessons in action

You will have no doubt seen in the news over the recent years the drive towards developing a deeper understanding in maths for our children. The methods and techniques used to teach maths in China have continued to drive standards higher, with Shanghai now sitting at the top of the International Pisa test (2014).

The London North East Maths Hub is working closely with the NCETM to help spread the word of mastery within maths. Depth, variation and fluency are 3 key factors to a mastery approach and are being developed and adopted by schools across the country. Many schools are already underway and are making changes to the teaching of maths in their schools and part of this involves CPD for teachers. It is vital that teachers are being given the opportunity to experience a mastery approach before embarking on change in their own classroom.

The most effective forms of CPD take place in the classroom - with real children and real teaching. As part of the Shanghai Exchange, Tudor Court Primary is hosting the return leg and will be offering an open door for colleagues from the London North East Hub to come along and observe lessons in Year 2 and Year 6. The day will begin with a pre-lesson discussion where you will find out about the lesson you are going to observe, this will be followed by the lesson and the post-lesson discussion where you will be able to discuss the teaching with our Shanghai colleagues.

The dates for when observers may arrange visits are:

Tuesday 6th December - 0830-1030 - Year 2

Thursday 8th December 2016 - 1030-1230 - Year 6

Venue: Tudor Court Primary School, Bark Burr Road, Chafford Hundred, RM16 6PL

Free parking available on nearby streets.

Please contact Daniel Elliott at Tudor Court: adminstrator@tudorcourtprimary.com to reserve your place.

Maths Together

This programme is led by Fliss James, deputy head teacher at Comet Nursery School (rated Outstanding by Ofsted).

The three sessions will focus on key issues in early years maths and national best practice:

- How children's knowledge of number develops
- How an enabling environment supports mathematical thinking and problem-solving
- How breadth and depth of receptive and expressive vocabulary supports children's mathematical thinking and understanding

The programme is practically-based, and includes action-planning for improvement, supported by a half-day visit to each participant's school. The course structure includes collecting data to show impact.

Costs: This programme costs £500 for the year, including half a day of in-school support from the trainer, Fliss James.

Special offer: for a limited period you can book a second practitioner onto the programme for just £100.

Booking: please email leigh.dredge@kaizen.newham.sch.uk to book your place stating your school, your name and your role.

If we can confirm a place, you will be asked to sign and return a full booking form in which you agree to engage in collecting and sharing assessment information (anonymised) as part of our quality assurance system and our research programme into effective practice.

Dates: 19th January, 23rd March and 27th April 2017

All sessions take place at Kaizen Primary School. Lunch and refreshments are included. Mutually convenient visit times and dates will be agreed during the year.

Secondary Bar Modelling

Bar modelling (sometimes also referred to as line modelling) is a common feature of pictorial representations used by high performing Asian countries to solve mathematical problems with whole numbers, fractions, percentages, ratio, proportion and algebra. It is a successful approach that enables students to draw the structure of a word problem that involves whole/part relationships.

This course is for teachers of KS3 mathematics. It will assist them in becoming accomplished users of the bar model in order that they can develop its use with their students. We will be considering its use for fractions, percentages, ratio and algebra.

The Trainer:

Caroline Clissold is an experienced teacher, having taught all years from Years 1 to 6. For nine years, she was the mathematics consultant for a London borough responsible for implementing the National Numeracy Strategy and subsequently the renewed version into local schools. She worked with the National Centre for the Excellence of Teaching in Mathematics as a coordinator and then Maths Hub link advisor for eight years. She now works as a freelance consultant.

Caroline's main interests lie in helping schools to develop a mastery curriculum as they have in successful countries such as Singapore in order to help children develop and deepen their conceptual understanding of all of the mathematics they learn and to understand how concepts and ideas in mathematics link together and also within the wider curriculum.

Due to its popularity, we have run the Primary Bar Modelling course on three separate occasions in the last 2 years. We have received very positive feedback from these:

"The most useful aspect of the course was seeing the progression clearly through the years and having time to think what you will implement."

"As a result of the course, I've learnt how to use Bar Modelling with problem solving and to consolidate number bonds."

"I will develop my practice by bringing in more pictorial representations and word problems."

Learning Mentor

Education Links

Contract: Full-time, Term-time only (44 weeks, 32.5 hours)

Education Links is an Alternative Provision Free School working with children who have been, or are at risk of being, excluded from mainstream school, and who typically demonstrate challenging behaviour. We provide a broad and balanced curriculum delivered in small groups to ensure success for everyone, tailored for the individual, ensuring that every child gains skills and knowledge. Our aim is to re-engage them in the process of learning, catering for their emotional, intellectual and social needs. Many of our students have high needs, or have a statement of special needs/ Education Health & Care Plan.

We currently have a vacancy for two learning mentors who:

- Can empathise with the challenges faced by our young people

- Is able to work with a varied staff team
- Has good communication skills
- Can positively represent the school
- Will subscribe to all School policies
- Has achieved Level 2 literacy and numeracy, or equivalent
- Is prepared to commit to good attendance and punctuality in line with the needs of the school
- Is willing to work flexibly in various locations and with various groups according to the needs of the school curriculum and in the best interests of the students

This is an exciting opportunity for the right person to join our team, supporting the teaching group in class alongside teachers, as well as providing one to one support to male and female students. Experience of working with young people with learning difficulties is desirable. Education Links is a multi-site school, and travel between sites may be required.

Education Links is committed to safeguarding and promoting the welfare of children and young people. This post is subject to suitable references and the successful applicant will be subject to an enhanced DBS (Disclosure & Barring Service) check. This role is subject to Section 2(d) of the Race Relations Act and Section 7(2)(e) of the Sex Discrimination Act.

Please visit our website to obtain an application pack www.education-links.org.

Only applicants who return the application pack by the closing date will be considered.
