

Sandringham laying foundations for the community

The new building project at Sandringham Primary School really is laying deep foundations.

When completed, the new building will offer completely updated Nursery and Pre-School classrooms and includes music, drama and art studios.

The building, on the site of the old nursery, will also serve as a much needed community space.

Head teacher, Robert Cleary, explained how the "building of architectural note for Forest Gate" would "offer more to our community".

School neighbours have been part of the consultation process throughout. Ongoing regular coffee mornings during the building period will facilitate discussion on the progression of the developments.

Out of necessity, parking restrictions have been imposed and so to mitigate the effect of this upon local residents, Robert has encouraged staff to cycle each morning, himself being no exception. Upon completion, the facilities will be available to the community for hire on weekends.

Designed by RIBA award winning architects, Walters Cohen, and constructed by Lakehouse, the project has taken two years in development and completion is anticipated in February 2017.

The former Sandringham school nursery was built in the 1950s and was showing its age. It was finally demolished at the beginning of 2016. Building work, part funded by the Newham authority, began in June.

Robert said: "I am so excited to have a building that the whole community can use."

Have you started using EVOLVE?

To further enhance support for schools, NPW has recently partnered with EVOLVE, the online planning and management system for educational visits.

EVOLVE is an efficient system proven to reduce paperwork that collates all necessary school visit information on one simple platform. Furthermore, as EVOLVE is an online management tool, its versatility and adaptability mean that it can be used wherever your educational visits find you (even on your mobile).

With Ofsted requiring schools to provide data on the number and type of visits undertaken, EVOLVE is beneficial in its Report function, negating any need for unnecessary paperwork.

To ensure an efficient start to the school year and seamless introduction to the EVOLVE platform, all schools are able to access the system for free until the Monday, 31 October 2016 with unique user profiles already in place. To register to use EVOLVE, your educational visit coordinator should contact Alan Merry, Geetha Unnithan or Jonathan Parr, who will send you your login details and starter guide and help with any initial queries.

NPW has secured a licence with EVOLVE for 2 years. Following the initial piloting phase, the annual charge for using EVOLVE from Tuesday, 1 November 2016 for a fixed 2 year period per annum, is as follows:

- Primary and special schools - £325.00 (+vat)
- Secondary schools - £525.00 (+vat)
- Nursery Schools - £225.00 (+vat)

For support and guidance on using EVOLVE, Alan Merry and Noel Forrest will be hosting an EVC Network in November 2016, exact date to follow, which will include an overview of the system and deal with any questions or problems.

Curwen pupil's design wows walking to school campaigners

Curwen Primary School has put its best foot forward to produce a winning entry for Living Streets' Walk once a Week (WoW) badge design.

Pupil Tyra Frimpong designed the City Skyline badge, which will reward more than 500,000 WoW participants during March 2017.

"This is fantastic news for Curwen and the children" said Paul Harris, Executive Head Teacher.

WoW is an ongoing walk to school challenge that encourages more than 400,000 children nationwide to walk to school once a week. Run by Living Streets, it advocates walking to school as a natural choice making it a fundamental part of young persons' daily routine. Pupils who walk to school at least once a week are rewarded with a monthly badge, and develop healthy habits.

The Curwen School Travel Plan Champion, Swasthi Mahabeer said: "We are delighted that all the children will benefit from Tyra's win. What a great way to promote sustainable travel for school."

Each year a new cohort of badges, with one for each month, is the result of a nationwide competition. This year there were more than 1000 finalists from over 340 schools, nationwide. In total, over 120,000 children took part. The design theme was 'My neighbourhood'.

Tyra said, on her winning entry: "I feel honoured." Winners also receive a WoW goody bag and a year's worth of WoW resources for Curwen.

Living Streets describes the relevance and appeal of Tyra's design: "Landmarks are an iconic part of every town and city and the London skyline is brimming with some of the most recognisable ones in the world; from the historic St Paul's and Big Ben to the modern and cutting edge London Eye and the Shard."

New Religious Education syllabus celebrates Newham's diversity

All Newham schools are starting to teach from the new agreed Syllabus, Explore Religions and celebrate Diversity from September 2016.

On Tuesday, 12 July 2016 over 200 pupils, parents, teachers, governors and faith leaders came together at Plashet School to celebrate children's work in Religious Education in Newham schools.

Thirty-seven prizes were awarded to children and schools who had gone out to visit different places of worship in Newham and London across this last academic year. On their return to school the pupils had written, painted, drawn, sung and sculpted in response to what they had learnt about others from visiting these different places of worship. Prizes were sponsored this year by RE Matters and DK Publishing.

Elmhurst Primary School pupil, Preet Litt, who won best work in Year 4 for her model of a Hindu temple, said: "I think it is wonderful that in the Newham local community there are different religions because we can learn from each other. I enjoyed going to visit places of worship in RE and making my model."

The day also saw the formal launch of the new Religious Education Syllabus by Newham council.

Councillor James Beckles, vice-chair of Newham's SACRE welcomed guests from different places of worship, Newham council, teachers, parents, governors, students and children to the launch. Rev Jeremy Fraser said: "Newham is so diverse faith wise and yet we can learn from each other and teach each other. This is a great document, use it, it just celebrates faith and inspires students and teachers alike. Thousands of hours of work is distilled into this syllabus. Explore Religions and celebrate Diversity."

Jane Moon, Deputy Director of Education and Skills for Newham Council added: "RE is more than a subject, more than a syllabus, it teaches us about lives and how we live them."

There were performances from Hallsville Gospel Choir and Plashet

RE department gave poetry readings. Representatives from a wide range of faiths spoke about the role and importance of RE.

Helen Yearnshire, Deputy Head Teacher at Southern Road Primary said: "Newham has a lot to be proud of in the Religious Education children receive - the new syllabus is exciting and dynamic and reflects our Newham children's diverse backgrounds."

Claire Clinton, RE advisor to Newham schools said: "It has been an intensive process writing this new syllabus, but we are so proud that it will help children to understand and know more about people who are similar and different to them."

A message from the National Hindu Students' Forum (UK)

Namaste Teachers/Gurus

Tuesday, 19 July 2016 saw the celebration of Guru Purnima, a Hindu festival dedicated to people just like you: teachers! It falls on a full moon and is a time for us to show our gratitude to all those who have inspired or guided us.

Knowledge is supremely esteemed in the Hindu tradition. It is significant that this day falls on a full moon. Having the responsibility of being a teacher has never been light to carry. But equally, you are dispelling ignorance with radiant light, just as the full moon. You are looked up to, even in the darkest of hours.

The Forum would, therefore, like to acknowledge and appreciate the tremendous effort you provide in bringing the best out of each student, whilst also equipping them with the knowledge and skills to carve their own future. We appreciate the critical role played by teachers in influencing young minds and personalities.

That's why we want to take this festival of Guru Purnima to thank you for your unfailing dedication. You are lighting up the night sky.

We are moving: last year the NPW website moved to www.npw.uk.com and now our email is joining the new domain. You can now get in touch with us via forename.surname@npw.uk.com.

Outstanding Early Years Teaching

Outstanding Early Years Teaching is a year-long professional development programme to support early years teachers to develop the quality of their teaching and further their reflective practice. Participants have a unique opportunity to undertake eight visits to Maintained Nursery Schools in East London, all rated Outstanding by Ofsted, to observe leading-edge practice and engage in professional dialogue.

Between each visit, participants reflect on their practice as they implement and evaluate new approaches. The group develops as a community of learners throughout the year and everyone engages in monthly online discussion using Twitter and/or the group email.

During the pilot phase of this programme, three of the ten participants had an Ofsted inspection and were graded Outstanding.

Outstanding Early Years Teaching is suitable for experienced early years teachers who wish to develop their practice further, and for years teachers at the start of their careers who are striving for excellence.

This CPD programme is now part of a major research project into pedagogical leadership, in partnership with the UCL Institute of Education.

Costs: This programme costs £700 for the year.

Booking: please email leigh.dredge@kaizen.newham.sch.uk to book your place stating your school, your name and your role.

If we can confirm a place, you will be asked to sign and return a full booking form in which you agree to attend all eight sessions and to engage in the online In discussion element using Twitter and/or the email group.

Successful Early Years Ofsted Inspections

The stakes have never been higher: Ofsted have a new, tougher inspection framework for the early years. If your early years are judged to be less than good, that will affect your overall school grading too.

This half-day session will help teachers and early years practitioners to prepare carefully for Ofsted and to approach the inspection with confidence.

Rather than hiding behind the "Ofsted monster" to get things done, Julian Grenier sets out how to do what's right for children and families, and build long-lasting and effective provision.

Everyone who attends will receive a free copy of the accompanying book, published by Sage at £23, together with easy-to-use time-saving pro formas and self-reflective documents that you can access for free.

The UCL Institute of Education is our Teaching School's Partner University.

Costs: This half-day session costs £100, including a free copy of the book and access to online materials. Please note that the book is published on November 26th, so if you attend the session before then your copy will be sent out to you as soon as it is available.

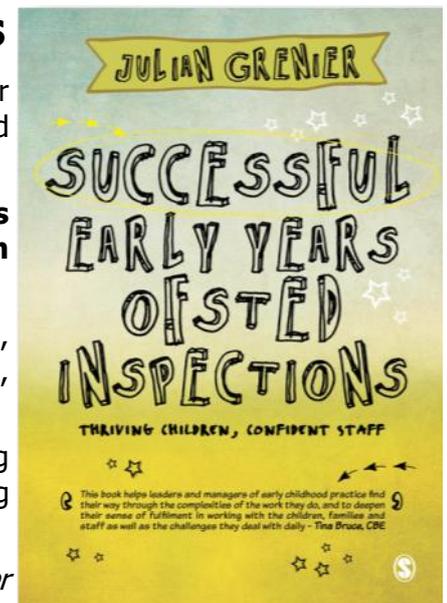

Booking: please email leigh.dredge@kaizen.newham.sch.uk to book your place stating your school, your name and your role.

Dates: Tuesday, 4 October 2016, Tuesday, 6 December 2016, Tuesday, 7 February 2017, Tuesday, 7 March 2017 and Tuesday, 2 May 2017

All sessions run from 9am-12pm and take place at Sheringham Nursery School. Tea and coffee are included but lunch is not provided.

Teaching Maths for Mastery In-depth

9th November - 11th November 2016

In-depth professional development course with our Singaporean practitioners - teaching maths for mastery using the Singaporean approach.

Nov

This three-day course will cover concrete-pictorial-abstract, effective use of questioning to encourage deep mathematical thinking, bar modelling and problem-solving.

Ofsted, National Centre for Excellence in the Teaching of Mathematics (NCETM) and the Department for Education (DfE) have all emphasised the value of the pedagogical and discovery learning nature of the Singapore approach to teaching maths.

With teaching methods that have been tried and tested over the last 30 years, and through the incorporation of key learning theories, such as Piaget, Dienes, Bruner, Skemp and Vygotsky Singapore has become a "laboratory of maths teaching" which has seen them rise to the top of the international rankings for TIMSS (Trends in International Mathematics and Science Study) and PISA (Programme for International Student Assessment) for mathematics.

This course is three days which allows time and space for planning and reflection on this revolutionary approach, providing you with the best chance to use this method successfully.

Our Singaporean experts will cover concrete-pictorial-abstract, effective use of questioning to encourage deep mathematical thinking, bar modelling and problem-solving.

At the end of the course you will understand the key learning principles behind the success of Singapore maths and the approach used within the Maths - No Problem! Programme.

Course impact for teachers

Heads, Deputies, maths leads and senior team members will come away with a full understanding of the principles behind Singapore maths in order to train and support teachers back at school.

Course impact for schools

Your school will benefit from having well trained staff with the in depth skills to support the implementation of a mastery teaching approach across the school.

Who should attend

Recommended for anyone responsible for raising maths teaching standards, regardless of whether your school is using the Maths – No Problem! Materials. Ideal as a follow on to our Teaching for Mastery Essentials course. Previous exposure to the principles of Singapore maths or maths mastery is recommended. For teachers, mathematics subject leaders/department heads and senior leaders (year 1 to year 6). Those teaching early years and year 7 and 8 can benefit from this training, as well.

Training consultant - Juliana Donna Loh

We're pleased to welcome Juliana Donna Loh as a new trainer to Maths - No Problem! Juliana has been an educator with the Ministry of Education, Singapore, for 38 years. She was the Head of the Mathematics Department in a Singapore Primary school for nine years before being identified to be and assuming the post of the first Master Teacher (Mathematics) in Singapore in 2002. Her experience included teacher training in the National Institute of Education in Singapore, syllabus review and professional development. Juliana has also authored a mathematics book "A handbook for Mathematics Teachers in Primary Schools" which was very well received both in Singapore and in other countries and co-authored two volumes of "Solve that problem" which gave insights on the various heuristics used in solving elementary mathematics problems.

What did other delegates think

"So valuable, I have raved about it to all my teacher friends encouraging them to get their head teachers to find out. So worthwhile and so helpful. Throughout the session I thought "I can't wait to do this with my class" and now I can't wait to try!"

Assia Ali, Teacher at Brookburn Primary School
