

Big win for Little Ilford

Little Ilford School in Manor Park has beaten 40 other London schools to win the London Debate Mate Cup at London Metropolitan University.

On Thursday, 18 April 2017, Little Ilford's Debate Team, which has been training hard since October, knocked out The Grey Coat Hospital School from Westminster in the Grand Final debating The Importance of the Use of Referenda.

Year 10 student, Ayesha, said: "We were up against last year's winners in the final and we didn't expect to win, but in the end we worked together as a team to succeed. The opposing team in the final were just as passionate as us, but the judges' decision was unanimous that Little Ilford were the outright winners".

The winning team was made up of students from Years 8, 9 and 10. The youngest member of the team being 13 year-old Jaleel who has 100% attendance at the after-school training sessions.

Sammy in Year 10 said: "Debating has taught me different skills that I wouldn't normally learn in everyday life".

Teacher and mentor, Samira Hakim, said: "All of the students have made excellent progress in their debating skills, giving up time after school to practise and learn the skills of debate. We are very proud of them for this fantastic achievement."

The Debate Mate initiative aims to tackle educational disadvantage in some of Britain's most deprived communities. By recruiting, training and placing university students to run extra-curricular debate workshops in schools with above average Free School Meal entitlements, speaking and listening attainment, and a range of high order thinking skills and non-cognitive abilities such as confidence, teamwork and leadership are improved.

Gold standard RE at Curwen

Curwen Primary and Nursery School have received their second Religious Education Quality Mark Gold Award.

Claire Clinton, Newham RE Advisor said: "I am so proud of all the children, staff, parents and community faith leaders who, working together, have ensured such high quality provision of RE at Curwen consistently over the years. When Curwen were awarded the gold mark five years ago I thought it was brilliant, I am even more delighted with this news now."

RE is a major scaffold in Curwen, where there is a belief that pupil development is supported by linking RE to the world around them. Pupils are able to embrace and celebrate diversity of religions and cultures and are supported, developed and moulded into effective citizens in class and beyond through Collective Worship, Citizenship, Spiritual Moral Social and Cultural, Philosophy for Children and cross curricular links.

Reception pupils at Curwen built a model-church with stained glass windows, after visiting West Ham Parish Church in Stratford. The church was used as a prop for their Nativity assembly and now welcomes visitors in the main reception of the school. Meanwhile, Year 5 has had the opportunity to travel to Spain and to visit a range of churches.

Curwen RE leader, Charlene McLeod says: "The wider community at Curwen adds significant value to our work with RE. We proactively draw on and celebrate the vast experiences and lives of pupils, parents and staff. Our children enjoy sharing what they have learnt through various assemblies delivered to the wider community. All of these aspects combined make being the RE leader here lots of work but very rewarding."

The RE Quality Mark has two purposes: it recognises good practice in RE and also provides a powerful tool for development by providing new ideas and confidence. This is the second time that Curwen has been recognised with this national quality mark for RE provision in schools, having earned the Gold Mark five years prior.

Ranelagh poetry performance is "the best show in town"

Once again, Ranelagh Primary School was packed for the annual Choral Poetry Performance.

On Wednesday, 29 March 2017 pupils from across the school performed poetry in what one parent described as "the best show in town."

Every year group was tasked with choosing a poem to perform aloud. Year 5 opened with a haunting rendition of Alfred Noyes' The Highwayman, which received thunderous applause. Parents then enjoyed the musical interludes from the Ranelagh choir, who sang tunes including Ain't No Mountain High Enough and the Buggles' classic Video Killed the Radio Star.

Years 1 and 4 followed, entertaining parents and teachers alike with renditions of Roger McGough's What I Love About School and Ted Hughes' Mice Are Funny Little Creatures.

Year 2 then reminded the audience of the importance of the suffragettes, performing Benjamin Zephaniah's Voices for Choices. Year 3 also performed a Benjamin Zephaniah poem, Ghost Teacher, before Reception and Nursery recited their favourite nursery rhymes.

Year 6 closed the show, with a brilliant performance of Lewis Carroll's The Jabberwocky.

The Ranelagh community couldn't praise the children enough: "It was great to see our children perform. Thank you very much for all your hard work," one parent said, with another adding: "Absolutely brilliant. I would love to see a show like this every week."

Shella Lawrenson, Acting Head Teacher, was equally impressed and led a standing ovation: "We believe that our children deserve the very best and should take part in a variety of different learning opportunities, and drama and performance poetry is just one of them. The children were simply amazing."

St Bon's or St Bees?

When students at St Bonaventure's in Forest Gate returned after the spring break there was a buzz in the corridors.

Over the holidays a special weather-treated cedar hive was installed on the roof of the school and is now home to 20,000 honey bees, including a Queen and nucleus.

The Flow Hive boasts a clear end-frame so the honey can be seen when it is ready to harvest and the extraction process is gentle and less stressful for the bees, who hardly notice a disruption. Checking the health of the colony is also made easier for the specially trained beekeepers in school.

Having the honey on tap is much easier and the husbandry is easier for the beekeepers too as Head teacher Paul Halliwell went on to explain: "We have joined the London Beekeepers' Association, Epping Forest Beekeepers Association and The British Beekeepers Association so have lots of support and are really excited to get started with our urban hive.

"We have undertaken much research and went to see the hive set up at The Petchey Academy in Dalston which is working really well. Likewise, West Ham Park is home to several hives and they have been very useful with their help and information. In fact, we have received lots of support and advice and we think it's really important to educate our students and raise awareness of the issues affecting bees. We have planted seeds to help attract bees to the flower beds on the Friary Lawn and once our colony is established we plan to sell small pots of honey to staff and students. This could be something our Young Enterprise Group might want to develop in the future."

He added: "I feel that helping honey bees and building the plight of bees into the curriculum is very important. Future generations need to be aware of the problem that honey bees are at great risk. Over the past 15 years, colonies of bees have been disappearing, by doing our bit to help rectify this, our students will be made aware of the problem, learn how to care for bees and hopefully gain an interest in ecology and the natural world."

Differentiation in Mastery

More and more schools are now teaching maths in a 'mastery' context, and often within a mixed ability or partially mixed ability setting. This presents challenges such as the following:

- Teaching all pupils the same programme and ensuring that they all master the concepts
- Managing to extend and deepen learning for all pupils, including more able children
- Support struggling learners within a mixed ability context
- These are some of the pressing issues being faced by Primary Teachers teaching to mastery which will be addressed in this session.

Target audience:

KS1 and KS2 teachers.

Facilitator:

Mohi Uddin is a former Head of Mathematics at a successful secondary school in North West London and also a former Primary Headteacher. He has been an Independent Maths Consultant for over three years and specialises in Singapore Maths.
